5.0 Procedure for Scanning a Face

1. STEP 1:

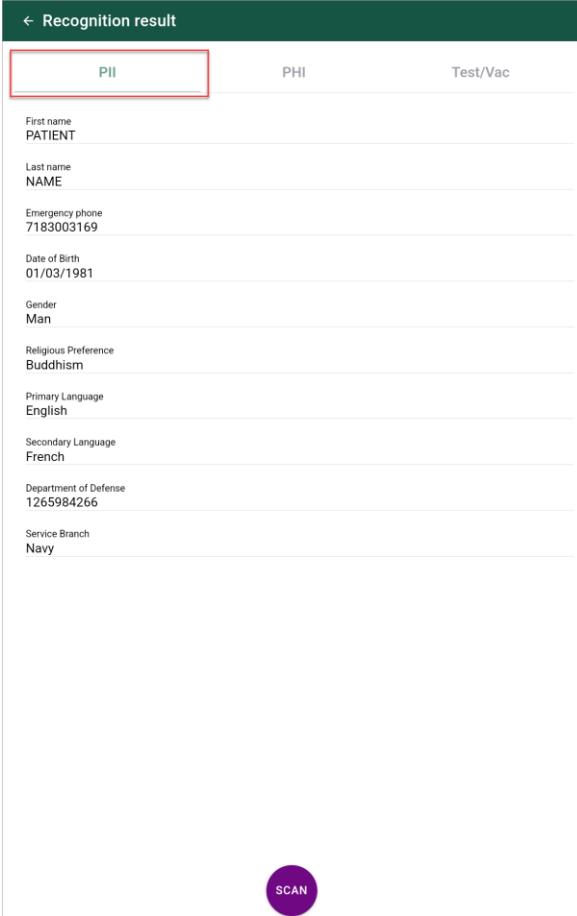

Using our Face Scan Recognition system, simply hold up the QR code and position the face within the frame. If the recognition percentage reaches 70% or more, it confirms that the QR code belongs to the patient. However, if the percentage falls below this threshold, exercise caution as doubts may arise regarding the QR code's ownership. This step is optional and can be skipped if preferred.

What Information We Collect and How We Use It

Personal information

Personal information defines as information or opinion, whether true or not, and whether recorded in a material form or not, about an identified individual, or an individual who is reasonably identifiable. Personal information includes an individual's name and address, signature, contact details, birth date, medical records and/or bank account details. It does not matter whether the information is true.

Health information

Health information includes information or opinions about the health or disability of an individual and a patient's wishes about future healthcare. It also includes information collected in connection with the provision of a health service. Health information is regarded as one of the most sensitive types of personal information. For this reason, the WCH Service Bureau Inc. provides extra protections for the way health information is handled.

They identified three (3) main scenarios where personal data that is being processed by health and wellbeing Apps will be considered health data:
